DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1-14, drawn to a physiological device comprising a sensor with a light generating means and a light detecting means and a processing system.

Group II, claim(s) 15-25, drawn to a physiological condition measuring device comprising an insertion rod, a sensor, a circuit connector, and an introducer tube.

Group III, claim(s) 26, drawn to a method of forming a needle for use in a physiological measuring device.

2. The inventions listed as Groups I-III do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons. Group I is drawn to an apparatus and method of using a particular sensor, which comprises a light emitter and detector, and a processor. Group II is drawn to an apparatus with an unspecified sensor that does not require the particulars of the sensor in Group I. Group II is drawn to an apparatus with an insertion rod, a circuit connector, and an introducer tube. These components are not claimed in Group I and are not part of the same inventive concept as Group I. Group III is a method of forming a needle, which is not claimed in Groups I or II and possesses a separate inventive concept from Groups I and II.

3. This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

Species A includes an insertion rod, a sensor, a circuit connector, an introducer tube, and a mechanism.

Species B includes an insertion rod, a sensor, a circuit connector, an introducer tube, and a tab.

Species C includes an insertion rod, a sensor which the sensor rotates relative to the insertion rod if a torque applied on the sensor by the insertion rod exceeds a predetermined amount, a circuit connector, and an introducer tube.

Species D includes an insertion rod; a sensor; a circuit connector with a stiffening member, a shielding layer, and one slit; and an introducer tube.

Species E includes an insertion rod, a sensor, a circuit connector, an introducer tube, and an interface.

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

4. The claims are deemed to correspond to the species listed above in the following manner:

Species A: claims 16-18.

Species B: claim 19.

Species C: claims 20-22.

Species D: claims 23-24.

Species E: claim 25

The following claim(s) are generic: claim 15.

5. The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: each of the species are indicated to be a different embodiment of the invention of the application which comprise a different inventive concept unique from the other species.

6. A telephone call was made to Cheryl Gastineau on 5/16/2003 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

7. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
